Figure 1. The relationship between the number of species and the number of individuals in the samples. The number of individuals in the samples was divided into 100 equal groups, and the number of species in each group was counted. The number of species was then plotted against the number of individuals in the samples. The relationship was found to be linear, with a slope of 1.0. This indicates that the number of species is directly proportional to the number of individuals in the samples.

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens die every year from Cholera. It is more fatal to chickens than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a remedy that positively cures it has been made, and to be convinced of its efficacy only requires a trial. A 50-cents bottle is enough for one hundred chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two-thirds of a bottle, the buyer is not thoroughly satisfied with it as a cure for Chicken Cholera, return it to the undersigned and your money will be refunded.

W. P. WALTON.

THE Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says a name has been invented for a class of men in Washington who appear to be active and numerous as the office-seekers. They are called "spikers." They claim on their arrival and with pronounced self-glorification that they want nothing. Yet if you watch the movements of these fellows they will be discovered making the official rounds and circulating in political and department circles with great industry and endeavor. They annoy the president very much, but there is no escape from hearing them. Our Gen. Bradley went to the capital as a "spiker," declaring he wanted no office under the sun, and the president accommodated him as near as he could by giving him one that is worse than nothing.

WHILE Commissioner, Gen. Black decided that a soldier who went bathing on his own hook and got drowned was not in the performance of his duty and that his relatives were not entitled to a pension. This decision has been reversed by the new commissioner and the pension with back pay allowed. Why not say at once that every coffee-cooler, sutler, bounty jumper and every other son-of-a-gun, who claims connection with the army, is entitled to run his hand into the National pocket and draw it out as full as he pleases. To this complexion, it seems, it will come at last.

THE suit of Mahone et al against Sergeant-at-Arms Canaday, has brought out a very ugly condition of affairs in his office. On his pay roll are a number of men whose sole duty consists of signing the pay roll for $75 a month and collecting the money they do not earn. In justification Canaday claims that the republican senators have forced him to this by trying to provide for their friends at the government expense. It is the old story that when two or three republicans are gathered together there is a combination to defraud the government in any manner possible.

LYDIA THOMPSON, who was showing her shapely legs about the first time we ever saw such things in a theatre, still has them on exhibition and they pass muster very well yet. She has long since become a grand-mother and is old enough to invent some other device to advertise herself than the old one of getting her diamonds stolen, but she hasn't. The Cincinnati paper tells about her great loss during her stay at the Palace Hotel last week, some bold bad barglar having entered her room and stolen what represented the earnings of 50 years or more.

THE white republicans of Alabama, tiring of their negro allies, are forming political leagues from which they are excluded. We can't see why the whites should want to be so exclusive. A negro republican is as good a republican as a white republican, especially a southern white republican, who is usually not so good a republican as a nigger republican because the white republican is oftenier than otherwise a renegade, a spoils hunter or a rascal, while the nigger republican is a republican because he doesn't know any better.

WHEN courts get a chance at settling lawyers' fees, they never fail to rob the creditors or heirs of an estate in the boldest of highwayman style. A few years ago Judge Hargis was given $25,000 as attorney in the Buft estate and now we read that Judge B. Baker, of Winchester, has been awarded $10,000 as attorney in the celebrated Ahe-Runk case. In the one Hargis could have been easily retained for $5,000 and B. Baker perhaps for $1,000 in the other.

JUDGE THURMAN is in Washington as an attorney in an important case, and although well up towards four score is as full of life and as apt in illustration as when his old bandana first floated to the breeze in the capital city. Speaking of the P. M. General, he remarked: "That breeches-maker from Philadelphia seems to be running the guillotine on full time. I am told that he is a pious cuss."

THE republican convention is called to meet in Louisville May 22 to nominate a candidate for State treasurer, for which office no silly lamb has yet offered to be sacrificed. Lincoln county is entitled to 13 delegates under the plan of one for every 100 or fraction over 50 votes cast for Harrison, whom Boss Davison, the lawyer, will proceed to name.

THE Owensboro Messenger says that Mr. W. A. Wilgus from the C. & O. road has offered the Press Association a special train to Old Point in June, but owing to the fact that the L. & N.'s tender of a trip to Mammoth Cave has been accepted, the C. & O.'s offer will be deferred till next year.

THE Mt. Sterling Sentinel says that Hon. W. P. Taylor has closed a hard deal by which he comes out winner to the tune of $25,000, and adds that this is better than playing Congressman. Yes and fully as creditable as training with the democrats and running with the republicans.

PROF. GEORGE HUNT, pastor of the Baptist church here, who is thoroughly equipped for the office, has about decided to make the race for Superintendent of Public Instruction. He thinks he will be backed by the almost solid vote of the central counties, besides possessing strength in all parts of the State. In addition to his unquestioned ability, the professor is a very affable and excellent gentleman, who makes friends wherever he goes, and the probability is that he will develop a very decided following.

AFTER a four days' attempt to prove an alibi, Tom O'Brien was held by Judge Mat Walton without bail for the murder of Bettie Shea, at Lexington. It was proved that he was married to the girl under an assumed name, that she was with child, that he had attempted to get medicine to produce an abortion and that he was about to marry an Indiana woman. With this evidence and the fact that he was the only person in the world who was interested in her death, there is little doubt that he committed the fiendish crime.

THE dailies contain graphic accounts, which have just arrived by mail, of the terrible hurricane which swept over Samoa on the 16th and 17th of March, in which the Trenton, Vandalia and Ninete American men-of-war, three German warships and ten other vessels were ground to atoms on the coral reefs in the harbor, and 142 officers and men of the American and German navies were lost. The story is thrillingly realistic and horrible to contemplate.

RURAL ROOSTERS generally will regret to learn that Col. W. M. Hull is almost incapacitated from his editorial duties on the Courier-Journal by a severe affection of the eyes, which may result seriously. He caught the prevailing sore eyes epidemic and continuing to do his work, while afflicted, gratulation of the his set in and he is now in quite a bad fix.

THE man who nominated Grover Cleveland for the three offices that he filled with great credit to himself and to the country, Hon. Daniel M. Lockwood, has resigned the office of U. S. Attorney for the Northern District of New York and is now, like his distinguished friend, a private citizen.

THEY are coming, father Abraham, 10,000 strong. That is the number of emigrants which left Liverpool last week to find homes in the land of the free.

THE iron crown of Louis XIV. consists of a broad circle, composed of six equal plates of beaten gold, joined together by close hinges of the same metal. Within is the iron band which gives it a name. It is about 4 of an inch broad and a tenth of an inch thick, and is said to have been made out of the nails used at the crucifixion and given to Constantine by his mother, the Empress Helena, to protect him in battle.

THE great vault of the treasury is full of silver dollars, making $80,000,000 now stored in it. It was expected that the vault would hold 100,000,000 silver dollars, but owing to the size of the boxes in which the dollars are deposited, it was found that the vault fell short of its supposed capacity by $14,000,000.

AN Arizona exchange, in speaking of the death of a prominent citizen says: "After a long and useful life this great and good man was cut off, surrounded by his weeping family, by a carbuncle on his neck. Don a carbuncle, anyway." So say we and so say all who have had them.

THE young man in Montana who shot himself because his sweetheart rejected him, missed one of the keenest pleasures of life. He should have married her neighbor and bought for his wife the prettiest spring bonnet that came to his town.

THE death rate in the case of brewers, commercial travelers and other classes exposed to the temptation of frequent alcoholic drinking, is six times greater than in all the other industries combined.—Medical Review.

THE oil of black birch is a product almost as precious as the attar of roses and is worth about $80 per gallon. As for the ordinary birch and hickory oil—well, we all remember what it used to bring.

THE K. C. has issued a beautifully illustrated "Guide to the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky" as reached by that famous route, which contains much valuable information, elegantly expressed and embellished in the highest style of the typographical art. Gen. Pass. Agt. S. F. B. Morse has our thanks for a copy.

A PITIFUL CASE.—Mr. James Smith brought his son, Martin, before the court Saturday to obtain the usual idiot allowance in such cases. About four years ago the boy fell backward in a chair and injured his spine, since which he has lost almost entire control of his body and his mind has been so much impaired as to render it almost a blank. He is a most pitiful object to behold and his parents deserve sympathy in such an affliction.

AN imaginative correspondent at Chattanooga, no doubt the same scamp who worked a similar story before, telegraphs to the dailies that a sensational scene occurred there when W. A. Rhodes attempted to take his sister, Miss Mellic, a beautiful girl of 17, from Clarence Rose, a good looking Cincinnati sporting man, who had been lured from home by Rose under a promise of marriage. The girl clung to her lover and a difficulty was only averted by the arrival of a policeman. It is claimed that she is a daughter of Richard Rhodes, a wealthy farmer of Garrard county, Ky., but County Attorney James Harvey Brown, who ought to know, says there is no such man there.

A PAIR of horses driven by Jim Nunnelly became frightened as they were passing Bruce's livery stable Friday evening and lit out at full speed. Jim and a colored boy, Will Lewis, jumped out of the wagon, but Will Mershon seized the reins and pulled with might and main. The horses could not be checked till they were almost to Rowland and it is said that Mr. Mershon's face was like unto a bed of cotton when he was helped out. The colored boy fell on his head as he jumped and was badly bruised, but Mr. Nunnelly, who used to drive mustangs in the wild West, profited by his experience and jumped so as to light on his feet. One of the horses is severely injured and the wagon, save the plank on which Mr. Mershon was standing, was literally torn in pieces.

MONIE MEMORANDUM.—Berry Howard, father of Harlan county, and Deputy John Blanton, placed in jail here Sunday the following five prisoners, four of whom were indicted for murder at the term of court just closed in that county: Joseph Stanford, James Howard, Ernie Howard and Granville Fee, Francis Pace was sentenced for life for the murder of his cousin at the last November election, and is confined in jail here to await a decision for a new trial. The sheriff passed on through to Frankfort with Marion Slocum, who was sent up for 15 years for the killing of his wife. Stewart had married a widow with a son and in a row with her the boy intervened with a difficulty followed in which Stewart shot his wife and a bystander dead, both being shot through the head. He was tried in the first case, which was for the killing of the woman, and is out for the a few terms of years.

COURT COURT closed at noon Saturday, after a very busy term. Judge Morrow tells us that he came nearer clearing the docket than ever before, and but for the mistrial in the Mart Smith case all of the old cases would have been disposed of. The term lasted three weeks and the cost of the jurors was but $1,104, which includes $150 paid to Boyle county men, summoned in the Smith case.

In the case of Mrs. Jennie M. Pennington vs John W. Pennington an agreed judgment was entered by which an absolute divorce was granted. Mrs. P. was given the custody of the little girl and half the estate for the benefit of herself and the child. Mr. Pennington retains the custody of the son and the right for each to see their children at will was granted.

The court seems to have hung in several cases, notably the Pepples and the Traylor, in which decisions were reserved till next term.

The rain that came Sunday was needed both for vegetation and for replenishing the cisterns, many of which had given out, so little rain having fallen during the winter.

The old log jail, which has just been torn down and which served to hold the rascals 50 years ago, was the most solidly constructed house of the kind we ever saw. The logs were of immense size, the flooring and lining of oak and several inches in thickness, but it would no more hold the average prisoner of to-day than a glass case would hold a lion.

The report having gained currency that the boys of a college in a neighboring town carried pistols, a committee was appointed to find out if it was true. Five youngsters, all less than 16, were called at random into a room and on being searched each was found to have a pistol, while one more warlike than the rest, showed two pistols and a bowie-knife.

A VERY pleasant surprise indeed was it to Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Owens to find that during their absence from home on Thursday night, their friends had taken charge of the premises and laden the large table in their dining room with a dozen or more handsome cakes, pies, fruits and confections. When all preparations had been made a messenger was sent to inform Mr. and Mrs. Owens that they were wanted at home and great was their surprise to find some 15 or 18 couples of their friends waiting to welcome them. The good things were liberally partaken of and a most delightful evening spent.

HON. THOMAS.—The marshal of Lebanon lodged in jail here Saturday the negro, Arch Adams, who stole a hog from J. E. Farris last December, valued at $20. The capture was accomplished through Detective John Newland, who has been working up the case since the night of the theft. The negro had been working for a farmer in Marion. He acknowledges the crime and wanted to plead guilty and go at once to serving his term at Frankfort, but Judge Morrow had adjourned his court two hours before he got here. As Mr. Newland has spent considerable time and some money in securing the scamp, the small reward offered by the citizens would be very acceptable to him now, and ought to be paid at once.

AN FARKING IN JAIL.—In search of items and E. J. reporter wandered into Jailer Owens' cellhouse Sunday afternoon and had quite an extensive conversation with the noted (?) men therein. The jail, in the first place, is very neatly kept and it afforded the reporter pleasure to accept a chair from Turnkey Green in front of the cell in which General Sowders, Jeff Henderson and Jeff King, all of Bell county, are incarcerated. It will be remembered that Sowders and Henderson were the acknowledged leaders of the Bell county faction and it was rather surprising when Gen. Sowders, to whom the reporter had introduced himself, introduced Henderson as "my friend Henderson." On being questioned in regard to the coming about of the existing good feeling, the "general" said: "Henderson and myself were until a few years ago the best of friends and we very frequently visited each other. My wife is a cousin of Henderson and I always felt as if I were blood kin to him. The trouble arose though, and since then I have never seen him till I saw him in jail here. We soon made up, forsaking my pardon, and I this, and now we have forgotten all the ill feelings. Had we not any where else there would likely have been blood shed, but a kind of fellow feeling brought about a reconciliation and I we are both determined to let the matter drop." Sowders has a splendid face and looked as if he meant every word he said. Henderson and King are not very talkative, and King, who spends most of his time in walking to and fro in his cell, never speaks unless he wishes to tell a joke. He is a capital hand at telling them and keeps a good supply of fresh ones on hand. He is a Union man and fought in a number of famous battles. The man Pelly, who got four years for stealing a mule, seems to be in very low spirits and looks as if he might be a consumptive. He has nothing to do with the rest of the prisoners, but sits moping from day to day out. Tom Harper, 21 years for killing West Hanford, is the happiest negro in the country and says he had just as lief go to the pen as not. He spends most of his time shuffling cards and says he is going to win money when he goes to Frankfort. There are 16 inmates and only one sad face was seen. All, with the exception of Pelly, are as happy as lords, and say they will regret leaving Stanford both because of their comfortable quarters and the good "gent" Jailer Owens gives them.

It is likely that the depot, which was more than a mile from Somerset, will be built a half mile further off. This will be pretty rough on the traveler, who does not wish to invest in omnibus fare.

HOUSE KEEPERS, if you want a carpet, Smyrna rugs, lace curtains, curtain poles, window shades or anything else in that line, please remember that we are headquarters for them. Owsley & Craig.

The dwelling of Mr. George McKinney, who lives near Mt. Salem, was consumed by fire Thursday evening. The fire, as usual, originated from a defective flue. Loss about $2,000; insurance $1,000.

A source that they will at the May court apply for a voting place at Hubble's Store has been posted by Messrs. G. P. Bright, C. R. Harris and B. F. Engleman. It will still be the Stanford precinct and will be known, we suppose, as No. 3.

NEXT Sunday is Easter. Since 325, when Constantine brought the unsettled question as to the date before the Council of Nice, Easter has been made to fall on the first Sunday after the full moon which occurs on or next after March 21, except when such moon falls on Sunday, then it is to be the Sunday following.
